Montville Township Public Library
Director's Report

February 11, 2019

The cold temperatures in January brought people into the library to warm up, attend programs, and check out items to entertain themselves with while they wait for warmer weather. Our January Business, Career, and Technology talk on redesigning and updating your LinkedIn account was the best attended S.C.O.R.E. talk to date, drawing 22 attendees. We began using our newest game format, Nintendo Switch, at our Game Tournaments. This is a format the teens have requested and it has proved popular thus far.

The Library also hosted several large meetings in January, including a great presentation for 60 MAIN staff members on Guerilla Branding, that will help us plan better programs, merchandize and display our materials more effectively, and improve marketing for our programs and services. We also hosted the monthly MAIN Circulation committee meeting.

Risa gave the 12 local Brownie troop members a tour, showed them our catalog, and made personalized bookmarks with them. We have been busy planning events, including the upcoming Lunar New Year and statewide TAB summit, so 2019 is off to a great start!

HVAC issues have been front and center as far as time, attention and expenses and energy is concerned

The Director attended the Mid-Winter Meeting of the American Library Association in Seattle, WA. He attended meetings from the Freedom the Read Foundation, The GLBTRT, Library Consultants, Collection Management and the Director's Discussion Group. This proved to be an excellent conference with new ideas that we can implement as part of Montville's continual program of library improvement, staff training and customer service.

The Director has begun the State Library/State Aid Report that is due on March 15th. This statistical report gives an overview of this past year's activities to the NJ State Library who then transmits the state-wide results to the Public Library Association and the Institute of Museums and Libraries (the federal agency).

This past month we had 11,449 visits to the Library. The staff processed 72 new guest membership applications and 152 Montville guests renewed their Library cards. 16,861 items were borrowed from the Library in January 2019.

BUILDINGS & GROUNDS

A smoke detector in the ductwork tripped in air handler 5 (one of the air handlers in the breezeway ceiling). That shut down the unit. Although the damper was in the closed position, the duct temperature dropped low enough to freeze the chilled water coil. When the water thawed, there was a leak and some of the ceiling tiles collapsed. Two security cameras fell; Northeast Security reinstalled them and got the video recordings back up on the DVR.

Hughes came out and shut off the off the chilled water coil valve. They tested all the freeze protection sensors, dampers, thermostats, actuators, and controls and found them functioning normally.

Two weeks later, we encountered another problem when we opened at 8:30 am. The building was cold and a quick look at the interface showed all the heating valves were open 100% and the boiler hot water supply temperature was only 70° (it should be 180°). The boiler shut off due to high water temperature; the temperature was high because there was not enough water in the boiler. In addition, the hot water supply pipe was leaking and in danger of breaking. Hughes called in a two-man crew to remove and replace the pipe.

Jay Tempe from WJ Malone Fire Sprinkler Corp. came to check how many fire sprinkler heads need to be replaced (an item on the Fire Marshall's Violation List). Jay opened each fire sprinkler cap to check the heads and found we need to replace five.

Griffith Shades removed the mini-blinds on the doors in the Gasparro Room (another item on the Fire Marshall's report; he said they obstruct the panic bars. They blinds were replaced with light blocking film.

Argent Plumbing rebuilt the flushometer in the men's room in the breakroom.

It soon will be time to call National Bulb Recycling to pick up our fluorescent and metal halide bulbs for recycling. The storage room has a lot of old bulbs in it. They have to be inventoried for pick up.

New postage rates were download for our Pitney Bowes postage machine on January 27. This is much easier to do now that the meter is set up with a wired Ethernet connection.

Bill Heaney from Bill's Electronics solved the problems we had when using HDMI cables with the rear screen projector (the image jumped on the screen). The rear screen projector is over ten years old and it was not working properly with HDMI cables. Bill found an adaptor that connects the VGA to HDMI and it works fine now.

We had to call the high school parking lot security, Amy Emory, officer about student's using our lot. Amy put stickers on the offending cars.

Dean and his crew replaced bulbs and ballasts and are returning with the lift to reach the hanging pendants that are out.

The new chairs for the staff and public were delivered. We expect the desks to be delivered in about 4 weeks.

FINANCE

We received an IRS Notice of Penalty under Section 6721 of the Internal Revenue Code. We were not able to reach the IRS information line for specific information due to the recent government shut down. Library Accountant, Greg Della Pia, prepared IRS Form 2848, Power of Attorney and Declaration of Representative, which authorizes him to contact them on behalf of the Library. He sent a letter requesting information about the penalty so we can properly respond. He said that the IRS will give additional time to respond and that they are usually good at abating penalties for non-profits.

We received a donation from the Montville Education Association. Scott Riotto, President of the MTEA, presented the check to Allan and Catherine on behalf of the Association. We received two end of year gifts from our regular Library contributors. It is always a delight to receive donations from grateful supporters. And recently we received a check for $500. For library adult programming.

PATRON SERVICES

We worked with our materials vendor Baker & Taylor on the transition from Dewey subject heading labeling to the more user friendly BISAC (Bookstore) headings which will make it easier for people to find the materials they are looking for. We will begin with the Travel section. We expect to start re-arranging the collection in March. Allan has also been working on the development of a more simplified arrangement for our Music CDs. The first batch of Switch games have arrived and will be available to our guests shortly.

Adult programs in January were well attended despite, or maybe because of, the cold weather. Our Montville "U" lecture series lineup included a talk on Growing Up in the Bronx by Marty Schneit, a two-part lecture on Life After Retirement by psychologist Diane Lang, Painting the American Revolution by local historian Joel Farkas and a "Medical Mysteries" lecture by local resident, and former head of the new Jersey Poison Control Center, Dr. Steven Marcus. The Sunday concert this month featured a wonderful cello, flute and oboe performance by the Baroque Orchestra of New Jersey Chamber Trio. Eighty people were present in the audience for the successful kickoff of our spring Sunday Music and Arts series. Evening programs included a talk on the Korean War by Dr. James Kane. Our monthly genealogy workshop remains very popular. This month we began the 18 - class cycle with an Introduction to Genealogy Research class.

For the children, we had a fun month of winter story times and crafts including making paper bag Snowman puppets and Messy Munchkins in which 16 kids made snow globes. Baby Playtime continues to be immensely popular with an attendance of 74 for the month. Because parents of young children are always looking for things to do with the kids, especially in the winter, we have launched a Coloring Book Hour with Nina twice a week, and next month will begin a Play-Doh craft hour twice a month. Our kids Yoga session brought 16 children to the library to practice poses, hear a story and sing a song. We had to cancel our visit from children's author Alyssa Capucilli due to snow. We have rescheduled the visit for April.

January programs for teens included the successful Game Tournaments featuring Switch, and an After Hours Lock-in with games and movies. Our January Cooking class on sandwich making was a hit as well. In order to cater to all age groups, Jeff started a college age Cookies and Conversations group for the 18-22 year olds and the first one went very well. Jeff is working with the YA Service Section of NJLA to plan a statewide TAB summit with meetings in all three regions of NJ. The TAB group is planning large scale celebrations in the style of our upcoming Lunar New Year for Diwali and Ramadan. Jeff expanded the TAB volunteer calendar to give the kids more opportunities to volunteer.

Jeff opened up registration for the spring semester of Intermediate and Advanced ELL classes and Conversation which will begin in February and run through May. Jeff and Hebah are planning to offer a night ELL class and are working on putting that together.

PERSONNEL

Library Assistant Kai Chan was trained and began work in January. Alexandra Sutton, the other Library Assistant hired in December, accepted a full time job and has resigned. We are in the process of bringing Library Monitor Kaitlin Tirch on board for February and filling the vacant position of Library Assistant.

Jeff Cupo applied for the Public Library Association's Inclusive Internship Initiative in which, if selected, Montville Library would hire and mentor a high school upperclassman interested in librarianship and from a diverse town community, to be an intern at the library for the summer of 2019. The overarching goal of the initiative is to introduce students from diverse backgrounds to careers in librarianship

Civil Service notified us that they are retiring the position of Library Monitor effective February 5, 2019. Current employees in the title will remain in the title. The Civil Service title of Page can replace the Library Monitor title. The difference is that the Library Page is a classified position that becomes permanent after a successful 90-day provisional period. There is also been discussion about the recently passed $15 per hour minimum wage law and how it will effect public libraries.

We filed a retirement pension claim for an employee who resigned over ten years ago. We have a file cabinet for personnel records of former staff members and it is surprising how often we use it.

STAFF TRAINING

Several of the staff attended the "Guerilla Marketing in the Library" with David Vinjamuri. Hosted at the Montville Library. This so called guerrilla branding is intended to steer the marketing efforts of a library towards becoming indispensable by building ties to a community through disciplined and creative strategies and tactics. At its core, guerilla branding is about using less conventional and low-cost publicity, marketing and social media tactics aimed at obtaining maximum exposure.

The workshop was split into several components.

First, build an indispensable brand. At this stage, think about crafting a strategy for branding. As was stated in the presentation, branding involves creating an authentic and unique differentiation for the products or services that we offer our guests. In other words, how are we setting ourselves apart from other contending interests is the key to discovering and taking advantage of ways in which to generate demand for your products and services.

Brand, in the mind of our guests, is a promise--the promise is about time. In other words, branding is about finding the need and meeting the need of our consumers which, in effect, saves time for the consumer. For example, for persons over 60 years of age who may need technology assistance with their devices, knowing that the Library offers “tech help” for seniors, gives them the opportunity to attend a program geared toward their needs. Unlike other methods of assistance, such as self-help, looking to friends or family, or searching for a paid service, the strategy of marketing technology assistance to senior saves this audience the time and effort of having to consider other options of receiving the services they want.

The second part of the workshop was how to take advantage marketing inside the library. Here, using space with purpose, understanding the vision of the library and calibrating your event strategy to maximize marketing opportunities were the central themes. In order to achieve these objectives, it is important to choose priorities, optimize space, prepare for visibility, and align and activate supporters. Also, participants were encouraged to consider conducting a space audit and think critically about how we use our space.

Finally, the presenter focused on the “ABCs” of low-budget branding outside the Library including social media. This is “always start with your brand,” “build programs to boost awareness,” and using creativity versus spending. Making connection with local businesses and being involved with local events are key strategies in creating a successful guerilla marketing campaign.

The Director has been in touch with Mr. Viniamuri for additional information on the space plan that he could offer the Library. More details to follow.

Risa attended three webinars on using Advanced EBSCO Searching, EBSCO School Library Resources and Job and Career Accelerator.

Hebah attended another session of her NJLA Emerging Leaders Internship. She is learning learn about different aspects of librarianship and about some of the challenges and opportunities for growth librarians in various settings face.

Hebah attended the Black Comic Book Festival at the Schomburg Center in NYC. She brought back a list of ideas we can use for comic related film screenings, workshops, and clubs at the library.
